

LEAGUE FOES UNCHANGED IN ATTITUDE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—President Wilson told members of the Congressional Foreign Relations Committee last night that unless the United States entered the League of Nations, the league would fall and chaos and turmoil beyond description would result in Europe. Views of Republican members opposing the league constitution as applied to the peace conference apparently were not changed by the conference.

Views of Republican members of the congressional foreign relations committee, who opposed the proposed constitution of the League of Nations, apparently were unchanged after a long dinner conference last night with President Wilson at the White House. This opinion was expressed by both Democratic and Republican senators.

QUESTIONED CLOSELY.

Discussion of the constitution as presented to the Peace Conference was said to have been quite general and the President was questioned closely, especially by Senator Brandege of Connecticut, Republican Leader, Senator Frank Knox of Pennsylvania, former secretary of state, took very little part.

The President, after making an opening explanatory statement, answered all questions freely and specifically emphasized that his guests were free to discuss the conference and all its information with newspapermen or others. One question on which time was spent was whether a nation once in the league could withdraw, raised by Senator Brandege. The President was said to have held that any country could withdraw, but Senator Brandege contended this would be impossible.

On the question of American sovereignty, the President was said to have taken the position that recession of American sovereignty was not a new precedent, being an incident of every treaty.

Men who appreciate the value of a dollar bill will be glad to know Cherry's, at 555 Thirteenth street, is holding a reduction sale on suits and overcoats. Coming at this time, when everything is priced high, is indeed good news. The reduction on suits is 10 per cent and even greater savings can be made on overcoats.

And best of all, Cherry's usual credit terms apply. A small payment down at time of purchase, and the balance in easy weekly, semi-monthly or monthly payments just as suits are purchased.

It will pay thrifiters to go down to Cherry's tomorrow and see the wonderful bargains. The sale lasts only until March 1.—Advertisement

"In the Service of Humanity"
THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE U. S.
120 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Of all the Equitable's sixty years of public service, 1918 was by far the most important and successful.

During that year the greatest epidemic in America's history carried off over 400,000 people, most of them in the young and healthful period of life.

Of the $27,799,026 distributed in death claims by the Equitable in 1918, to the beneficiaries under its policies, $5,200,000 was directly due to the epidemic of Influenza and Pneumonia, emphasizing the urgent need of life insurance and of securing it at an early age.

In 1918 the Equitable distributed to its policyholders in Death Claims, Endowments, Dividends and other benefits, $65,412,490. It also promptly met all the obligations imposed by the Government during the great war. Liberty Bonds to the amount of $54,000,000 were purchased during 1918. To do this it was necessary for the Society to borrow $23,000,000.

The following figures are from the Society's 59th Annual Statement, which will be furnished on request:

OUTSTANDING INSURANCE, Dec. 31, 1918. $1,924,538,578

Increase over 1917, $169,669,670

NEW INSURANCE IN 1918. $273,223,559

Increase over 1917, $21,878,907

INSURANCE RESERVE. $483,817,197

Balance due Banks, Liberty Bond account. 21,000,000

Other Liabilities. 18,085,970 $522,903,167

SURPLUS RESERVES:

For distribution to Policyholders, 1919. $18,016,362

Awaiting apportionment on deferred dividend policies. 57,967,578

For Contingencies. 12,926,813 $88,910,753

ASSETS, December 31, 1918. $611,813,920

Through GROUP INSURANCE the Equitable, in 1918, increased the protection furnished by employers to their employees to the extent of $80,000,000. The value of this protection was strikingly illustrated during the epidemic.

There was a marked gain in policies giving beneficiaries Monthly Income for life, as well as in Business Insurance, and in policies to cover Inheritance Taxes.

There was also a large increase in life policies providing for (1) waiver of premiums if totally disabled, (2) continuous income during total disability, and (3) double payment in case of accidental death.

As an extension of this branch of Equitable service, policies are now issued giving complete accident and health coverage, and providing for weekly incomes for disabilities caused by accident and disease.

"SWEETUMS" AND "ONEY BUNCH" DRIVE HIM OUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—This from the drawing room "does sweetums love um little honey-bunch," and this from the living room "hearies party must be sugar while nd w." gave Bernard Winter, proprietor of the Empire Sheet Metal Works, many a bad evening. If he walked through one twilight room where he stumbled across a clump of feet he was sure to be started by smacking sounds in the next; and if one of his step-daughters scolded him for ruining her teet-a-teet, the other step-daughter was ready with a supplementary criticism.

For Winter tells the court he married a Mrs. Amelia Winter with the intent of spending a happy home life, as he could have but that his two daughters, whose popularity with the young men of the neighborhood was beyond question, "eat up" with their beauty every evening and he had no place to go but the kitchen. Winter dodged the courtship parties for three months, then he packed up his clothes and left home. Also in his complaint, charge us cruelty, he says Mrs. Winter nagged him.

Name's Quarantine Against Flu Lifted

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 27.—Name's quarantine against influenza was lifted today, after having been in effect more than three months. During the epidemic 34 whites and nearly 1,000 natives died.

Under the constitution as now drafted.

President Wilson denied that the league plan would interfere with the Monroe Doctrine, declaring that the doctrine would be guaranteed by all the member powers in the world society. The President was said to have held that the mandates in the constitution were not compulsory, but required the consent of the nations to which the mandatory was assigned. Senators said he expressed the opinion that the United States would desire to become mandatory for Armenia.

On the question of American sovereignty, the President was said to have taken the position that recession of American sovereignty was not a new precedent, being an incident of every treaty.

Chairman Brandege of the Senate Committee said the President held the decision of the league's executive council or disarmament would not be binding, until specifically approved by each signatory nation, and that consequently the American congress could have the opportunity to pass on the apportionment of armament for every nation concerned. The President said this section had been misconstrued.

Concerning the clause giving the right to the league to consider acts threatening world peace, President Wilson said that the clause was indefinite and would be made more clear by writing in a safeguard which would require that every recommendation by the council should be unanimous.

It will pay thrifiters to go down to Cherry's tomorrow and see the wonderful bargains. The sale lasts only until March 1.—Advertisement

SPEED UP OR LOSE WORK, IS PIEZ WARNING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—If further increases in pay are to be given shipyard workers "a considerable increase in the per man production must ensue." This was the warning in a statement covering the demands of the Hog Island shipyard foremen today by Director-General Plex of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Plex offered the 400 foremen an increase of $2 a week instead of the demanded $6 raise.

"Certainly with unemployment growing, with prices generally on the decline, and with lessening opportunity in many industries, demands for wage increases can be justified solely on the ground of a considerable increase in production,"

Plex replied to the foremen.

Officials regarded the course taken by Plex as leading directly to a cancellation of contracts for further shipbuilding should strikes come.

His statement mentioned that there still was much work to do in carrying out the government construction program, but intimated strongly that time was no longer pressing and that the work could be temporarily delayed if it were necessary to await more favorable conditions.

Plex said the shipbuilding industry must be "purged" if men are not able to do the work for which they were employed. There can be no reduction in the costs of production, he pointed out.

"...only by manning the yards with men physically fit and skilled that the industry in this country can be placed on a basis where foreign contracts can be obtained," he added.

Wilson Says Monroe Doctrine Is Safe

Explains Provisions of World League

Frank Discussion by Congress Asked

By L. C. MARTIN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—President Wilson's own interpretation of the nature of national constitution was placed before Congress today. It was presented informally to House and Senate members by the foreign relations committee of the two bodies. They received it from the President last night at a dinner and conference at the White House.

It will be given more formally to the Senate in speeches by administration leaders. Absolute freedom to make public every detail of last night's conference was explicitly explained, though attending the conference invited full frank discussion of the league by Congress and the country.

The President's position on provisions about which debate was concerned was made plain in answer to questions asked him by his guests.

The President did not take the league constitution article by article and expound it, nor did he make a speech. He invited questions and then answered them. In view of the President's evident desire that Congress and the people get all possible information concerning the workings of the projected league, these attitudes of the administration and conference talked freely today.

The President's interpretation, as appeared to the committee members and as stated by them to the United Press, is given herewith:

MONROE DOCTRINE—The proposed league extends the Monroe Doctrine to the entire world and thus would strengthen instead of weaken or destroy this traditional American policy.

MANDATORIES—The provisions for states mandatory to supervise, guide and guard former colonies of Germany or her allies do not permit any nation to assume the task of mandatory against its will.

In this connection, the President stated, according to the committee members, that numerous requests have been made that the United States act as mandatory in the cases of a number of countries. But it will be with the greatest reluctance that this country undertake such work, the President is quoted as saying. He indicated, it was stated, that if this country does become a mandatory, Armenia is likely to be the object of our care.

The mandatory plan was adopted, committee members quoted the President as saying, because of the obvious difficulties of outright annexations.

DISMARMAMENT—Effective disarmament, in the President's view, as stated by members, depends upon (1) the good faith and honor of nations of the league and (2) enforcement of the provision against general private manufacture of arms, munitions and war material.

Each nation is the judge of the program necessary to insure its own safety and it is here, in the President's view, that unless absolute good faith is shown, disarmament will not be completely effective. But the provision limiting production of war material will, in his opinion, go far to aid disarmament by preventing the shipping of huge fleets or super-armies.

Nothing in the constitution, he is quoted as saying, prevents the training of any number of men, but they do not constitute an army unless armed and equipped.

The President impressed his hearers with the fact that once the program for any nation has been ratified that nation cannot of its own motion increase the program without flying into the face of its solemn pledge as a league member.

GREAT BRITAIN'S POWER—The British empire will have five votes in the full league, but one in the executive council. Each of Britain's self-governing colonies will get a separate vote in the full league, but the United Kingdom itself will have one vote in the council. This disposes, in the view of administration senators, of the argument that British power would be increased out of all proportion by creation of the league under the proposed constitution.

IRELAND—For the present, Ireland will not have a vote or be a member of the league as a separate nation, committee members understood. The President indicated, they said, that Ireland's future status is a matter between Ireland and the British government and that the league has no jurisdiction.

WITHDRAWAL FROM THE LEAGUE—Any nation wishing to withdraw from the league may do so.

NEDDERMAN WILL YIELD TO PETERSEN

That he will not seek to oppose Walter J. Petersen, former chief of police, and the chief of police rating as a captain of detectives, or even the office of chief of police, if it is decided that he will hold it again, is the statement today by Chief of Police Henry Nedderman. This followed the announcement that Petersen's civil service standing is still in effect.

"When I said that Petersen had lost his civil service standing," said Nedderman, "it was not because personally I thought he did not deserve his badge. I was informed by former City Auditor J. H. Clay, Clay told me he had as head of the police department that Petersen had no standing now in the department, and that he had ascertained this fact by examination of the records in Petersen's case. I understand now that Clay was in error. Personally I have nothing to worry about in the matter, one or the other, Petersen and I are friends again. We are still in good form in politics. Two men may differ in politics and still be friends."

The card index record in the Civil Service Board offices indicated, until yesterday, that Petersen had been granted a leave of absence in 1916 and had not been granted one since. Leaves of absence must be renewed every year, and had no further leave been granted, this would have resulted in Petersen's standing. The minutes of the Civil Service board, however, recorded the leave of absence granted Petersen for army duty. This leave was transferred to the card index yesterday by order of Secretary Frank Colburn of the board, its omission being a technical error of clerks in the office, according to the secretary.

Petersen is expected home from France at almost any time, according to friends here.

NEW PRAISE FOR TRIBUNE ANNUAL

Praise of the 1919 Annual of The TRIBUNE continues to be expressed. The following letter has been received from Rotarian J. A. Elston:

Editor, Oakland TRIBUNE:

Dear Sir—Permit me to thank you for the 1919 Annual of the Oakland TRIBUNE, which I have just received. The wealth of interesting material contained between its covers fully merits its magazine form.

Personally it will be unusually valuable in my office for reference purposes. Cordially yours,

J. A. ELSTON.

Commenting editorially, the Sacramento News says:

THE TRIBUNE'S ANNUAL

By far the best annual ever to be published by the Oakland TRIBUNE is the for 1919, which was issued in the fall. It is an annual of quality in every respect, and the most impressive literature of the great industrial growth of Alameda county that has ever come to our notice. Not only are the articles contained in the publication informative and well written, but the individual articles are well done. The feature of the issue is the importance of the shipbuilding industry in Alameda county. This is shown by a number of attractive half-tone illustrations of the building and launching of ships, as well as descriptive articles authenticated by men in authoritative position. Oakland, in fact all of Alameda county, is fortunate in having such favorable literature so widely circulated.

"Bundle of Sticks" Holds Stag Party

About four hundred members of the "Bundle of sticks," the social club of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, met in their hall last night and inaugurated their program of banqueting by "staging" a stag party.

The following program was rendered:

Addresses by Jim Rye, A. Maginn and J. Samuels; vocal selections, Harry Miller, B. R. Merrill, B. Gough, recitations, J. Pitham, J. C. Calhoun, C. Madison; quartet selections, Jim Hall, Harry Stevens, H. P. Jennings and Joe Nash.

Professor Laska entertained with a eight-hand performance and Professor Gough rendered several selections on the piano and organ.

Herbert Johnston acted as toastmaster at the banquet which followed the business session. He was assisted by the following committee: H. E. Jennings, S. W. Culberg, J. M. Hall, Bell Gough, B. R. Merrill, W. O. Johnson and Joe Nash.

The next meeting of the board of directors will be held on March 17.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 27.—Saturday's parade of freshmen, in which several startling floats were presented, resulted today in threats of expulsion and confinement and freshmen and other threats of a strike by upperclassmen, who declared themselves equally responsible with the freshmen for the parade.

The student affairs committee of Stanford University is investigating the matter.

ROTARIANS HOST TO FRENCH BAND

Members of the French army band, fifty in number, who come direct from the fighting trenches overseas, were guests at a luncheon given in the ballroom of the Hotel Oakland today by the Rotary club. There were about 250 persons present at the event, which is the second of the group series of entertainments, Group No. 1, of which Frank W. Bligh is chairman, and which consists of the twenty members, had charge of the program today.

The card index record in the Civil Service Board offices indicated, until yesterday, that Petersen had been granted a leave of absence in 1916 and had not been granted one since. Leaves of absence must be renewed every year, and had no further leave been granted, this would have resulted in Petersen's standing. The minutes of the Civil Service board, however, recorded the leave of absence granted Petersen for army duty. DEFENSE COUNCIL WORK IS CHANGED

Taking up the activities of the State Council of Defense, and preparing for new duties, the state committee on readjustment is making appointments of county chairmen, taking over the former local defense organizations and generally readjusting the citizens who served as chairmen so efficiently for the council.

General J. J. Borree, chairman of the state committee, reports that gratifying interest is shown by the number of acceptances coming from the former chairmen who evince the "go-ahead" spirit. In requesting their continued assistance General Borree emphasizes the necessity of saving.

"We have tasks before us which are of vital importance to the welfare of our state. Of these there stands paramount the problem of employment and to this we must address to the utmost, our patriotic energies."

There are also other activities which we inherit from the State Council of Defense, also of great importance, and concerning the work which we have just enumerated and other work which may develop as exigencies.

We would ask you now for your cooperation and that it may be as effective and cordial as you gave to the State Council of Defense, remembering that while the war is at an end, it has left economic conditions immensely disturbed and that our obligations to our state continue as strong and persuasive as during the period of war, so we urge you to continue with us and to give us your valuable aid."

New Influenza Wave Warning Is Issued

After a period of ten days during which no influenza cases have been reported, new cases are again being listed by the health department at the rate of one or two daily. In the past three days five new cases have been reported by physicians, with two deaths.

While this is not, according to the health department, any accurate indication, it is rumored a "third wave" of the disease. Extreme care is urged on the public by the department. Isolation of influenza patients until recovery and care to avoid colds is recommended.

According to the health department the disease is " petering out," but more or less of it is expected for some months yet.

Ten Separate Deals to Buy New Park

Oakland may buy a new park, one lot at a time, according to plans now before the park board. Residents about the site have petitioned that the triangle bounded by Westlake, Brooklyn and Lakeshore avenues be purchased as a park site, the plan being approved by members of the board. There are some dozen lots in the triangular-shaped site and these are owned by ten different owners.

As a result of this situation the valuation committee of the real estate board today started work on an appraisal of every lot in the area sought, each owner must be dealt with separately. When this appraisal is in the park board will lay it before the owners and offer to buy the site.

MRS. ARDELEAN GAINS 37 POUNDS

San Francisco Woman Sniffs
Sixteen Years—Tamlac
Restores Her

"My improvement has been so great," said Mrs. Hess Ardelean, of 49 Union Lane, San Francisco, recently, "that I am taking part in a contest." She continued, "I was weighing only one hundred and eighteen pounds, but now weigh one hundred and fifty-five pounds. I have actually gained thirty-seven new pounds. I do for there has never been a day in sixteen years until Tamlac relieved me that I have suffered any physical disability. I have been ill, I was unable to retain anything, and there was never a moment that I could eat breakfast and retain it. My stomach seemed just as sour as vinegar, and I could hardly stand up. I have tried everything during those sixteen years—prescription after prescription—recommended by physicians, as well as those advertised, and all my efforts were in vain."

"My blood seemed to be in awful bad shape, also, my face was covered with rashes, and I suffered all over with a rash that attacked my skin. My hair was also badly constituted, and suffered a great deal with headache and backache. We were trying to pay for our home here, and I have not had a cent so much that I decided to take a vacation and help out. Well, I stood it for three or four weeks, and then just had to give up. My stomach got worse and worse, and I would vomit after any meal."

"Then I began taking Tamlac and the results have been nothing less than wonderful. I am now easily and easily dressed. In fact, I am just like a person made over, and it is the first time in years that I could sleep all night without waking up. I have more energy and more energy than in years, and am working again and hardly know what it is to get tired. Anyone who knows me can see that I have changed. Tamlac has made in me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."

Tamlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company.

DEKLTON, THE NEW
BEAUTIFIER

Mrs. Doriot's Beauty Experts will demonstrate Deklton this week at Osgood's Big Store, 12th and Washington streets.

This new product of Mrs. Doriot's laboratory is entirely different and vastly superior to any other liquid lotion. It is not drying to the skin and is not irritating to the eyes. It is especially designed primarily for evening use with decollete gowns for the face, neck and arms, there are also shades which are for the person and for playing. It is proof from wind, sun and sunburn and should always be used before motoring, golfing and exposure. Its use makes the skin clear and a renewed beauty lotion and gives the user the appearance of being well groomed rather than "highly enamored." It is not a liquid powder. Mrs. Doriot classes it correctly as "a lotion for emphasizing women's natural beauty." Absolutely harmless, it only contains no dangerous chemicals, is very soothing and healing to delicate, tender skins.

No matter how muddy and lifeless you may feel this morning, beautify just a few minutes and this marvelous beautifier will transform it into one of radiant beauty, with all the delicate healthful colors of your natural complexion. This week, for results, no experimenting and the cost is less than you pay for a box of good face powder. Deklton is very economical as one package contains no less than 100 cubic inches of product. Go to Osgood's Big Store and ask for the Doriot Beauty experts, see for yourself just what this will do; you are under no obligation to purchase any product. This week, for the purchase of DORIOT goods ask the young lady to give you a full size package of Doriot Henne Shampoo free and tell her to explain to you how to shampoo her hair quickly and properly. The Shampoo will only be given this week free. Advertisement.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER
BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

HIDDEN RIVER IN CITY IS HUNTED

Sanitary science has of late made many studies with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to reading and hearing the artesian splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Every one, whether ailing, sick or well, can, after a bath before breakfast, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make any one a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation. Advertisement.

SNIFLES, SNEEZES, HOARSE WHEEZES

Banish them by using Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey.

Thousands recommend it. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey isn't an experiment, but a cough and cold remedy that has steadily grown popular because it is quickly effective.

For lingering colds or coughs or fresh attacks its balsamic and healing antiseptics are sure to be beneficial. It brings rapid relief from phlegm-cough, sore inflammation, tickling, bronchial tubes. Coughs also, hoarseness, coughs due to grippe, and kindred ailments. Economical—a bottle goes a long way. Your druggist sells it, 30c, 60c and $1.20.

Pine Tar Honey
for Coughs & Colds

TODAY'S BEAUTY TALK

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist a package of camphor and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a lather that is so fine and smooth so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the faintly perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing the hair dries quickly with a fluffiness that makes it less liable to static, and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure. Advertisement.

"ORANGE BATTLE" INVOLVES JUDGE

Worth Ryder Joins the Cubists!
Artists' Ball Is Working Wonders

BY LAURA BRIDE POWERS.

Court had adjourned and the county clerk's office had closed and Judge A. F. St. Sure and County Clerk George E. Gross were approaching Fifth and Broadway from opposite directions of the street. A wagon loaded with about a million dollars' worth of oranges was crossing the street in front. A street car came careening down and hit it amidstships. The oranges spewed all over the place, an ocean of them. Judge St. Sure reverted to childhood, picked one up and shot it across the street at County Clerk Gross, like as if he had left training for the slab only yesterday. Gross ducked and the orange hit a sidewalk worker in the "crotch." Gross, however, had one more shot in him. St. Sure ducked and the orange hit another sidewalk worker in the solar plexus. The big man heaven grunt and was filled with an ambition to hand the judge a haymaker for ducking. Gross was doubling up with laughter, and the judge thought to take advantage of the fact and get one home. He let drive, and the orange hit the sidewalk worker, who then sent one back. The story of Sherlock Holmes, who, between strenuous detection of crime, played Beethoven's sonatas on his violin, has a counterpart in real life, in Oakland, in the person of Police Inspector Frank Rossick. Rossick, who is one of the cleverest pugnacious detail men on the coast, is also an exceptionally accomplished violinist—although he never has told them about it in the office.

It was only when Louis Bernstein happened to have an old fiddle in his place that Rossick decided to buy, that the secret came out—for Rossick "tried out" the violin in the shop, while all business stopped, customers and clerks alike standing charmed as the big policeman played.

"Oh—it's just a fad of mine," he explains.

Years can do wonderful things to a man's shape. That's why Detective Sergeant George Cashel of the San Francisco department and Captain of Inspectors James Drew hardly knew each other when they met in Oakland. They were old friends of years gone by, but had not met for a long time. "Geo—you're thin," remarked the astounded Cashel.

"And say—you're fat!" retorted Drew.

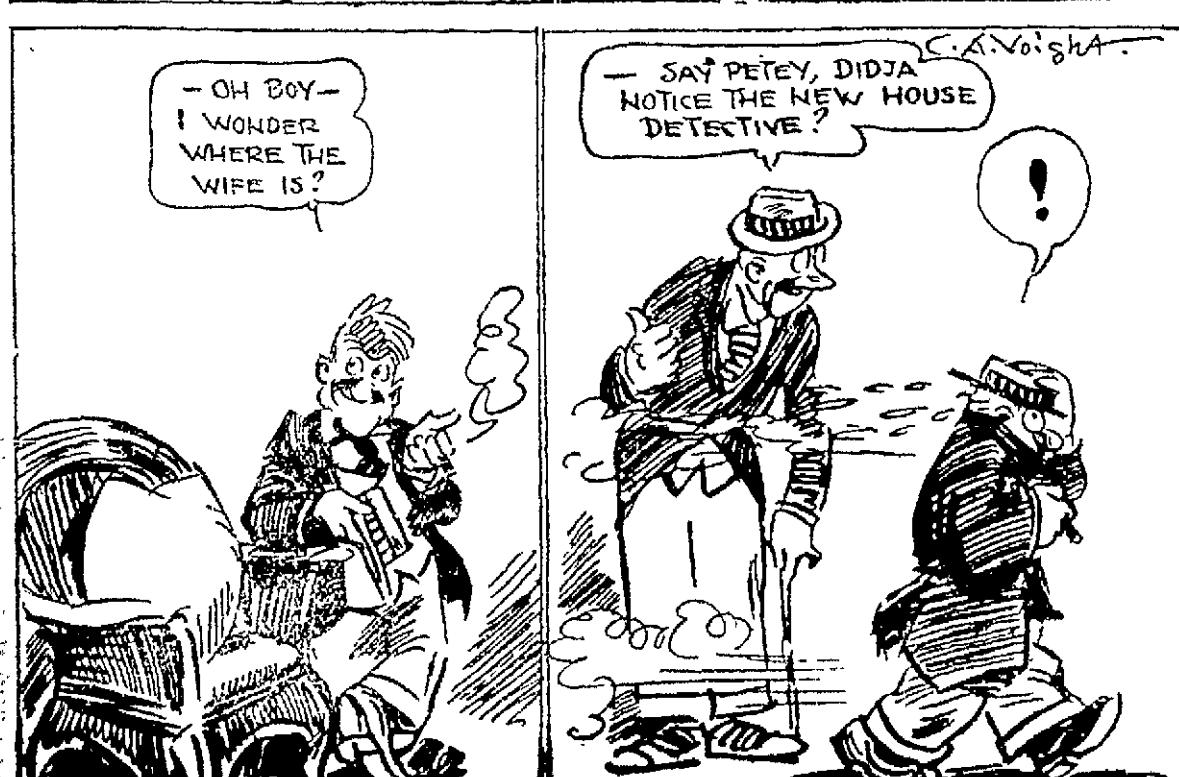

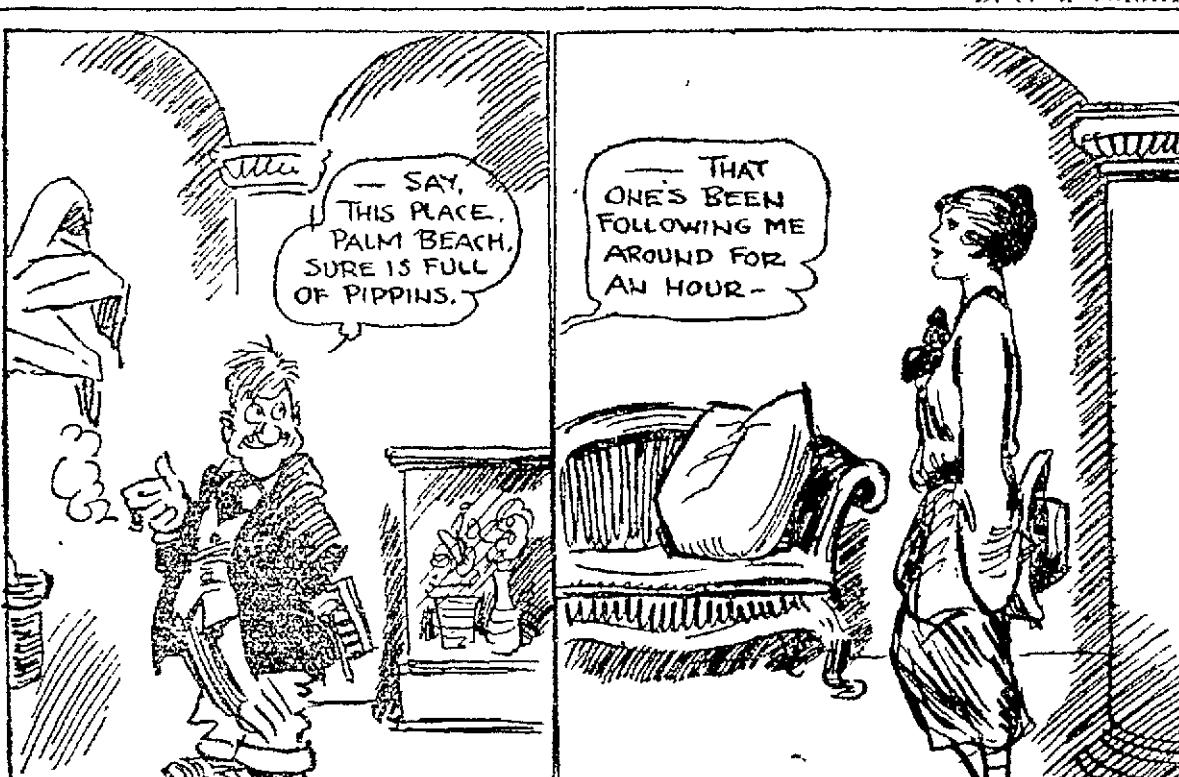

It's true. When they knew each other in the old days Cashel was the thin one, Jimmie Drew the fat one. And—years have reversed this. Now, ever, they're both satisfied.

I wish I knew what kind of folks Are living in the little stars For all I know I've lots of friends I'll miss because they live on Mars.

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the mask-faced lady housekeeper, could hear Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit, whistling a most jolly tune in the hollow tunnel under the floor. It was put on his tail skin the day morning.

"Where are you going now, Uncle Wiggily, if I may ask?" inquired Nurse Jane.

"To see my little friends, Curly and Fluffy Twits," said the bunny gentleman. "I met the father, Mr. Archibald Twits, yesterday, and he said squirrel boys, playing a little joke on him, when he looked a second time. Mr. Longears saw, the bad Pipsqueak.

"Well, we meet again!" said the Pipsqueak, sarcastic little.

"And I am very hungry for a bit of souse. I see you have some nice and fresh souse on your plate, and I am very hungry."

And then, all of a sudden, the Pipsqueak stopped talking and looked at Uncle Wiggily's paws.

"What have you there?" he asked the bunny.

"Tops," said Uncle Wiggily. "Tops?" said the Pipsqueak, as I call them for short. "Tops of turnips or beet tops?"

"Neither," said Uncle Wiggily. "They're just tops for Curly and Fluffy Twits."

"Excuse me!" cried the Pipsqueak. "There must be tops of something. There can't be just tops of turnips."

"Well, then," said Uncle Wiggily, "you're spinning tops. But you spin them, and I am not going to spin one top."

"Maybe if he see how pretty it is and what a nice hum it makes, he won't take my souse," thought Uncle Wiggily.

He spun one of the tops very fast. The top looked at it, bending his tact closer and closer, until it surprised him to see it a top spin. Then, all of a sudden, the Pipsqueak put his face too close to the top spin, and the red, white, and blue top plus pretty music began to hum.

"And, surely enough, it did," said Uncle Wiggily, as the one in the store stopped spinning.

MARRIED LIFE

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang has only four minutes to get that steak back to the butcher shop before it closes.

Adèle Garrison's New REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Lillian patted my hand.

"What a dear you are!" she said irrelevantly, and then in an altered tone.

"Wouldn't you like to know how I'm going to circumvent our friend little feminine friend?"—there's adulterer you."

Her tone was lightness itself, but there was a feverish spot in each cheek and her lips had the thin line around them that always means tension with Lillian. I saw that she was really concerned about her air of frivolity.

"I would like to know whatever you choose to tell me," I answered quietly.

"And I choose to answer quickly. You're going to have my dinner spoiled by any little dope send in this world or any other, so I called up Dicky, told him to round up two or three good private detectives, really good ones, who will not only be equal to any emergency, but who will be rolled over to keep their mouths shut. Dicky happens to know some crackerjacks, and he's going to station them around the house here—they'll do the most good. Nobody will ever be the wiser, and if the Allis person tries to pull off any funny stunts—well, I feel sorry for her, that's all.

Her voice held a quiet moment that made me shiver. I am very fond of Lillian Griswold, she is the best friend I have, but sometimes I glimpse a bit of recklessness in her of which I do not quite approve.

I may misjudge her, but I am afraid that in the cause of some one she loved she might not always be quite scrupulously ethical in the methods she employed to aid them.

So Dicky was coming to Lillian's dinner after all!

I hurried the thought to my heart when I had the time to reflect upon the confidence Lillian had just given me concerning the astonishing steps she had taken to safeguard her "party" from mischievous intrusion, or worse, upon the part of Mrs. Allis.

So Dicky was coming to Lillian's dinner after all!

I hurried the thought to my heart when I had the time to reflect upon the confidence Lillian had just given me concerning the astonishing steps she had taken to safeguard her "party" from mischievous intrusion, or worse, upon the part of Mrs. Allis.

For I was sufficiently acquainted with my husband's vagaries of temperament to be fairly certain that he would be his normal, light-hearted self again, the moment he got a taste of the meat that had been off the bone in the morning entirely forgotten.

Nothing diverts Dicky as much from his own silliness as the chance to help one of his friends out of a difficulty, especially if the helping involves anything unusual in his experience. He is generous himself, and an adventure, especially if it partakes of the bizarre, is like a heady draught to him.

An interesting feature of this striking costume is found in the sleeves of blue Georgette, which is made by hand embroidery, done in the same colors as the designs of the squirrel boys, playing a little joke on him, but, when he looked a second time, Mr. Longears saw, the bad Pipsqueak.

"Well, we meet again!" said the Pipsqueak, sarcastic little.

"Well, then," said Uncle Wiggily, "you're spinning tops. But you spin them, and I am not going to spin one top."

"I get each of them a spinning top—that is, if the tops spin as well as they do."

Uncle Wiggily soon found out that the monkey dingle gentleman who kept it spun one of the tops for the bunny.

"You just wind the string around this part," said the monkey dingle gentleman, "and then you spin it."

"I am not going to spin one top," said the Pipsqueak, "but I am going to spin one top."

"You can't," said Uncle Wiggily. "You can't spin one top very fast."

The top looked at it, bending his tact closer and closer, until it surprised him to see it a top spin. Then, all of a sudden, the Pipsqueak put his face too close to the top spin, and the red, white, and blue top plus pretty music began to hum.

"I don't want to worry any more," I said to Lillian. "Mr. Graham has arranged everything."

I saw Dicky start and look at her, and knew of what he was thinking. I never had known Lillian to call him anything but "Dicky" or "the Dicky-bird."

The answer was not far from me. Beside her chair, which she had quitted to meet Dicky, Robert Savarin stood like a sentinel, waiting for the return of the master of this mas in her life after so many years had changed Lillian. She no longer did things with the reckless insouciance which had been her wont, but carefully, circumspectly.

PROSECUTOR OF EL DORADO FACING PROBE

Claremont Matron Honors Eastern Guest at Bridge

The attractive home of Mrs. Chesley John Roberts in Claremont avenue, Claremont, was the setting for a daintily-appointed bridge party and tea this afternoon, the hosts entertaining for one of the younger matrons who has come from the east to make her home in Claremont. Mrs. Walter Gregory, Mrs. Gregory was Miss Dorothy Voll

The troubles of the Valveless Rotary Pump Company of Oakland, out of whose bankruptcy proceedings in 1914 the amount of $75,000 damage suit against City Attorney Eric W. Decoto for false arrest, have arisen again. This time they menace the prosecuting attorney of El Dorado county with an investigation of his conduct and possible impeachment proceedings.

When E. H. Bellows, who was acting as trustee for the company in Oakland in 1917, appeared before Superior Judge G. H. Thompson of El Dorado county for sentence for giving his conviction as evidence on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, Judge Thompson refused to sentence him. Instead he was given his liberty without bail and required to keep in touch with the probation officers of the county.

It is charged that District Attorney Abe Darlington, who prosecuted Bellows, had first acted as attorney for El Dorado Brothers of Reseue, El Dorado county, in an effort to collect a claim of $100 against Bellows. Bellows was released on bail and he gave the arrest of Bellows. Bellows was arrested last July 8, given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. W. Shanklin at Placerville and acquitted.

Darlington was then instrumental in securing an indictment against Bellows, it is charged. A jury convicted Bellows last week after he was out twenty-three hours. The warrant for the arrest of Bellows was issued December 5, 1918. His service was withheld until July 1918. Bellows' attorneys charge, at the request of Darlington.

The suit against Decoto here was brought at the time of the company's bankruptcy, by C. A. Epper, son, a director. The issues involved have no connection with the present case.

Suffragists Decide to Stay in Prison

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—The ten members of the national woman's party who remain in jail because of failure to pay fines of $5 each on account of a demonstration in Boston, had apparently decided to remain serving on their ten-day sentences. They informed formal statements that they would not pay their fines or allow any other person to pay them. This attitude was taken to avoid forced release such as that which came last night to three of their fellow prisoners, when a man unknown to them paid their fines. All the women ate the regular jail fare today and were allowed to do as they pleased in their cells instead of being assigned to labor.

Women Arrested on Badger Game Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The "badger game" which resulted in the loss of $38 to Fred Lavette, a railroad conductor, at the Bay State hotel, yesterday morning, was followed by the arrest of Virginia Shieffle and Lillian Nolan. They have been identified as the accomplices of the still unapprehended Ray Stanley, who assaulted Lavette, bound and gagged him in the hotel, claiming that the Shieffle woman was his wife.

An attractive bridge party was given this afternoon by Mrs. Whipple Hall at her home, the guests including a group of matrons who met each winter for bridge.

Cardi announcing the betrothal of Miss Gertrude H. Edwards and George E. Dugan of Long Beach, Calif., met most of their friends east of the bay. Miss Edwards has been making her residence in Nevada state for some time, following the profession of testing. She is a graduate of the University of Southern California Training School in Berkeley, having received her diploma with the class of 1917.

Mrs. Dugan is one of the promising young matrons of the state.

RECEIVES HONORABLE DISCHARGE FROM SERVICE

Dr. John F. Slavich, formerly of the medical corps, U. S. A., is one of the recent arrivals from the north and is being welcomed home from the service by his wife, a registered nurse, and from the surgeon general of the army for his honorable discharge.

Recently Dr. and Mrs. Slavich have rented apartments at the Hotel Oakland, 21st and Clay, San Leandro. Dr. Slavich enjoyed a visit at Portland, Ore., his former home.

A number of the friends of Mrs. Joseph Hinkleybom were her guests at the appointments of the affair in keeping with Washington's birthday. Among those present were Mrs. M. Preston, Mrs. Dolores Brown, Mrs. John B. Bunting, Mrs. Frank Sunes, Mrs. H. Welch, Mrs. A. Bartellini and Mrs. Duke Martin.

Upon her return from Southern California, Miss Crissie May will resume her duties at the Oakland Department Store. Miss May has taken the place of Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter, former hostess of the club.

ANNUAL RECEPTION
HELD AT COLLEGE

The annual reception for students at the University of California was held this afternoon by President and Mrs. Benjamin L. Wheeler, and was as usual one of the brilliant social affairs which marks the year's college activities. A large number of the seniors assisted President Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler in receiving. Among these were Miss Ella Barrows, Miss Helen Wirt, Miss Grace M. Bunting, Miss Elizabeth F. Farber, Corinne P. Miller, Miss Helen Hickman and several others.

Piedmont Libel Case
in Court Tomorrow

Preliminary hearing of charges against N. M. Melrose, charged with making libelous assaults on E. C. Klinner in circulants distributed in the neighborhood of Klinner's home at 28 Bowie street. Melrose will be heard in the police court tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The hearing was set for this morning at 10 o'clock but was set over as Melrose appears in a case today before the Superior Court. John Martin, sheriff of Nevada county, witness for the prosecution, was dismissed from appearance in court for the hearing by Deputy Attorney Myron Harris.

LECTURES AID Y.W.C.A. HOME IN BERKELEY

Construction work on the $60,000 Hostess House for the University of Y. W. C. A., designed by Miss Julia Morgan and to be built on the campus of the University of California just south of the campus, will begin in March. The big drive for building funds is now in full swing. Twenty-five thousand dollars has been granted by the national Y. W. C. A. war council and $21,000 has been donated by friends.

To help raise the remaining $11,000, R. S. Holway, associate professor of geography at the University of California, will give a series of lectures on "The Land of Outdoor Vacations," beginning Tuesday, March 11, at the Twentieth Century club house at Derby and College avenues in Berkeley. Sponsored by one of Berkeley's oldest and most influential women's clubs, and enthusiastically supported by the California co-eds, Professor Holway can be assured of a large audience at his lectures. The dates and topics are as follows:

Tuesday, March 11.—The scenery of California Rivers.

Tuesday, March 16.—The Coast Ranges and the Origin of San Francisco Bay.

Tuesday, March 23.—Cinder Cone Volcanoes and Lava Plateau.

Tuesday, April 1.—Sculpture of the High Sierras by Glaciers.

Tuesday, April 8.—Mutual Relations of Scenery, Climate and Man in California.

The site of the proposed hostess house is at the junction of Alston and Union streets, where the Y. W. C. A. recently purchased two lots. The building itself is the product of California's noted woman architect, Julia Morgan, a graduate of the University of California and designer of several of the Mills College buildings. The new Y. W. C. A. building will be of brick and resemble the dormitory hostess houses, with large windows, sun porches, water furniture, piano and cretonne draperies. An effort is being made to secure the furnishings of the Camp Fremont hostess house at reduced cost.

Two days ago, in the Blue Bird column, the story was printed of a little girl eight years old, who must have an operation performed to save her from being crippled for life. A good friend of Blue Bird's from Alameda phoned that she would donate $50 to help this youngster if two others would donate $50, making the $150 needed. Fifty dollars more has been donated by another friend, and $5 was received in the mail this morning. This leaves only $45. The sooner this is donated, the sooner the little brown-eyed girl can go to the hospital. Her arm was broken some time ago and as it was not properly set and taken care of, the bone never knit. Her arm below the shoulder, because of the broken bone, is getting smaller and smaller and the bone is shriveling. Unless the doctor, who is giving his services, can perform this delicate operation soon, it will be too late.

This is a column of "needs" today. A man who has been ill for a long time, is at last able to be up and around and work. He has a position offered him, but he has to have a pair of shoes first. He wears size 7B.

Also there is a little stranger expected soon in a family where there has been no spare money to buy clothes. This is no sort of a welcome, and those who have clothes that would fit a little "new" baby are asked to send them in to this bureau.

All the rain and the cold and the wet weather that has been visiting Oakland recently, little children between the ages of 12 and 18 have been visiting this bureau, and the things they needed most were shoes. If you have some good repair, that maybe your children have outgrown, there are many little feet that would welcome them.

the job of running them on March 19. On that day at 4 p.m. there will be a general meeting of the Oakland School Board.

Miss Hughes will speak Saturday, March 1, before the California Branch of the Collegiate Alumnae, which meets at the Hotel Belvedere every day at the Belvedere Hotel, San Francisco.

She will not only touch upon the proposed Federal legislation relating to educational matters, but will also speak on the organization of the Y. W. C. A. for the organization of different clubs.

She will also speak on the proposed legislation concerning physical education and for equalization of educational opportunities throughout the state. The California Legislature returns favorably upon the bill.

These now in charge are Miss Lillie Margaret Sherman, general secretary, and Miss Jean Wright, her assistant, both popular Berkeley girls and graduates of the University of California. Miss Sherman has been in charge of the college Y. W. C. A. for several years and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic society. Kappa Kappa Gamma, and a Bryantian. Miss Wright graduated 1919 and is a member of Alpha Phi and Bryantian. Miss Laurine Martin, a college student and Alpha Phi secretary, is president of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Virginia Holmes is treasurer and Miss Ella Barrows, daughter of Major Barrows, formerly dean of the California Faculty, is a alumna member. Mrs. Ralph P. Merritt of Berkeley is chairman of the advisory board.

The new building and enlarged work of the Y. W. C. A. will include an auditorium, banquet room, a small dining room and kitchen for the use of the students, a lounge where meals can be served at lowest cost, committee rooms and offices on the second floor, a court and garden.

A. and will include a general secretary, assistant secretary, social service secretary, and secretary for foreign students. This will make California's Y. W. C. A. one of the largest of all the universities of the United States.

These now in charge are Miss Lillie Margaret Sherman, general secretary, and Miss Jean Wright, her assistant, both popular Berkeley girls and graduates of the University of California. Miss Sherman has been in charge of the college Y. W. C. A. for several years and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic society. Kappa Kappa Gamma, and a Bryantian. Miss Wright graduated 1919 and is a member of Alpha Phi and Bryantian. Miss Laurine Martin, a college student and Alpha Phi secretary, is president of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Virginia Holmes is treasurer and Miss Ella Barrows, daughter of Major Barrows, formerly dean of the California Faculty, is a alumna member. Mrs. Ralph P. Merritt of Berkeley is chairman of the advisory board.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work of a doctor. Just mix and save about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours.
Tastes good, too, and costs little.
It is pure and good.

Pour 21/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clar-ified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired.

Then you make a full pint of a family strength cough syrup. A family strength is 1000 times stronger than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and the passages, stops the aching that tells you where the problem is, and soon your chest stops coughing.

Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for 1/2 ounces of Pinex with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

Judging from reports from drugrists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming the conditions.
The cold and healing effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those who apply for life insurance do not even suspect that they have the disease.
It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test
this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gaping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gaping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaints with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect, 40c and 25c per box. All druggists

NORTHERN TUG STARTS WILD STORIES HERE

A waterfront mystery looms in the offing. Waterfront folk, the grizzled roamer of the seven seas, the landlubber who loses skipper and crew when she comes into port, and the wharf rat which clings to the fringe of the waterfront fraternity, are just like the neighbors in the block one lives in.

When a newcomer moves in, keeps his own counsel and doesn't promptly let all the neighbors in on the secret of his lineage, business and intentions—presto! there's a mystery. Curiosity is aroused and tongues start wagging.

There's a mystery on the waterfront. No one connected with her had told where she's going or what she's going to do there. So the salts are talking and speculation is rife.

"Intruder, interloper, gun boat or gun runner?" These are the queries, representing the probable conclusions to which tend all speculation on the appearance here of the tug Traveler.

The tug Traveler arrived here from Grays Harbor several days ago without a tow. This is unusual. The Golden Gate is not her port, and she's never pretended to have business here before. That again makes her presence unusual.

She's coming in and getting shipshape in such a manner as would lead one to believe that she's got a lot of business somewhere, and no one connected with her has told what that business is. That makes the whole affair unusual on a third count.

Some of the mariners have opined that she is here to run opposition to the Red Stack tug company, the only tug company now operating in this port. Others think mysterious, that she's going to be a gunboat along the Mexican or South American coast. Others, remembering recent attempts at gun running on the Mexican coast, which have resulted in arrests by the government, go as far as to say she may have a thing or two in that line up her sleeve, or whatever it is that corresponds to a sleeve in a townboat.

At any rate the good ship Traveler, built at North Bend, Ore., twenty-three years old, whose prediction has always been for northern waters, has suddenly turned up here. She's been lying at the foot of Franklin street with a load of coal in bunkers and on deck.

And the mysterious man of the sea who has seen so many mysteries in his day that he can spot one right off the baying pin votes the whole business deep, dark, mysterious, baffling and unfathomable.

GIRL NEWSIES TO AID THE WOUNDED

"Naked a corps! Help the wounded men!"

This is the cry of the new newsies here, who are "Naked a corps" on the streets, but is through the clubs and business houses. Members of the girls' division of the War Camp Community Service with headquarters at 1114 San Pablo avenue, have pledged themselves to sell 1000 copies each week of the "Listening Post," the interesting publication of the wounded men in the School of Re-Education in Letterman General Hospital. Several thousand men are already at work in the shops and classes reconstructing themselves to their new physical conditions and new buildings are being erected to accommodate the greater numbers which will be sent to the coast. The General Letterman Hospital is the largest base hospital in the United States.

Mrs. Vinnie C. Hicks of Berkeley, formerly connected with the Oakland school department, and the Probation and Detention Home in Alameda county, is in charge of the educational department in the reconstruction school with its staff of forty or so teachers drawn largely from the classified teachers. Miss Jane Mooney is one of the only girls who is assisting with the corps of workers.

"The Listening Post" is the publication through which the wounded men are reaching the public. Its pages are clever and cover a wide range of interests. The preparation of the paper is done entirely by the convalescent service men.

The local girls' division of the War Camp Community Service has pledged themselves to turn out entertainment one night each month to the School of Re-Education. The first show takes place March 2 with a short play and feature dancing on the program.

Social to Be Held for Building Fund

Everything is in readiness for the big winter party and social to be held in the hall of Columbus hall, Thirteenth and Grove streets, tonight for the benefit of the rebuilding fund of St. Joseph's Athletic Club. The committee in charge of prizes has procured merchandise and grocery orders and numerous fancy articles. The advanced sets of tickets is reported to be large. This marks the initial step in the coming campaign for funds with which to fit up the thirty-five members of the club who are now returning from overseas service.

J. Kennedy will direct the whist and is to be assisted by the following young women: Mrs. F. C. Johnson, Mrs. M.

han, Phoebe Garrison, Rose Brady,

Nina Jordan, Gracey, Pevere, Pauline

WEEK OF 48 HOURS ISSUE IN SHIPYARDS

CAPTAIN R. D. TRUDGETT'S STORY OF HIS EXPERIENCES AS A PRISONER ON THE GERMAN SEA RAIDER WOLF, WITH TRUDGETT'S TRANSLATION OF THE DIARY OF CAPTAIN NERGER, THE HUN PIRATE

Captain Trudgett's Own Story

Tomina was a Japanese naval officer. I think it would have gone hard with him for not keeping away with the Hitachi Maru from the Wolf. Of course the seaplane might have bombed him, but the Wolf could have caught him if he had followed orders to keep away from all vessels. The seaplane had so disabled him that he had to stop and wait for the Wolf. A few rifles on the Hitachi Maru would have cared for the seaplane.

There was another Japanese naval officer among our prisoners, a lieutenant commander of the Imperial Japanese navy, who was on the Hitachi Maru en route to London to the Japanese embassy there as a naval attaché. When the Japanese sent him to question him, the Japanese officer refused to answer the demand, saying that he was of higher rank than anyone on board save Commander Neger. I do not know how the affair finally came out, but he would not heed instructions from the prison officers. He also demanded quarters ashore for his naval rank and was lodged amidships.

When the Japanese sent him to the Wolf, he was not a single ship. Undoubtedly there were ships not far off, but the Wolf took good care to keep away from them.

It was about the first of the year that scurvy appeared. It was said that about 70 per cent of the prisoners showed symptoms. Twenty per cent had it so seriously that they were sent to hospital after the Wolf made port in German waters. The other 50 per cent were given green stuff at Kiel and recovered without going to hospitals. I do not know if any of the hospital cases died or not.

Scurvy is the result of the lack of green food. It is unusual now for ships are compelled by law to carry lime juice and vegetables. I never had any trouble on any ship I was in charge of. Any boat can carry potatoes, carrots, turnips, onions, etc. The juice of any green vegetable is a cure for scurvy. The British battleships they have something they use now instead of lime juice, something more powerful.

The first manifestation of scurvy is on the back of the leg, in the cords back of the knee. Early in the scurvy outbreak the doctor was treating a man for rheumatism. I took a look at him and told him I thought he had the scurvy. And he did have it. The legs were swollen and the patient loses their use. The teeth become loose. The scurvy spreads all over the body and afflicted ones are helpless. It is claimed if the scurvy reaches to the earth" death will follow.

But as I say, there is never fear of scurvy when there is plenty of green stuff or lime juice to be had. Failure of a skipper to give lime juice to his crew is a grave offense.

It is one of the leading questions of the present inquiry regarding food and treatment. Furnished sailors on board ships.

We could scarcely blame Neger for not putting into some port where he might be interned or captured, merely to get green stuff for the scurvy stricken, but the Wolf laid for a whole week at a German port, in home waters, before going on to Kiel. Green stuff could have been secured at this port, but nothing was done. We got into Kiel with the worst cases were sent to the hospital and the rest treated with scurvy diet and rest.

All those left on board ship quickly recovered.

NUNS WILL HAVE PIEDMONT HOME

Construction work on a $1,000,000 cloister for the nuns of the Order of the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin Mary probably will be begun within a few months on a ten-acre tract recently purchased by the order on the crest of the Piedmont hills, just back of the Crocker property. A prospectus of the proposed building, which is to be in the Mission style of architecture, has been prepared by Louis C. Mulligan, architect, who drew the plans for the Court of Abundance at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915.

Mulligan is perfecting detailed plans for the cloister, which will be constructed so as to follow the curvature of the prominent peak upon which it is to stand. The building will be about 800 feet in length. The elevation is about 1000 feet, and will afford a fine view of Oakland, San Francisco and surrounding country. Surrounding the building will be beautiful grounds with ornamental plants and shrubs dotting the landscape.

Selection of this site for the proposed cloister was made after a visit all over the Pacific Coast. The hill where the structure will stand has been named Mt. St. Margaret.

Everyone of us was in good spirits. It did not seem possible that, at the moment, luck could desert us. Yet we were in the air a certain something, a sort of anxious tension and impatience that would not subside until we were through the so-called British blockade.

The prisoners were otherwise impressed, especially Captain Meadows. They packed up all of their property. All of their valuables and papers they tied into their life-belts against the time when they would have to quit the sinking Wolf and make for the ice-cold waters in a swim for life. Some of them, dead, would be quite satisfied if a British or American cruiser did not appear, for accustomed to the prisoner's life, they felt they were safer in German hands than taking their chances in the frigid sea.

Salvation Army to Assist Bartenders

"Association for the Relief of Indigent Bartenders" is in process of formation, though it is not to be known by that name. It will continue in fact as the Salvation Army. Lieutenant Colonel Henry C. Ladd, of this division of the army, says it is going to help the bartenders who are thrown out of jobs by the inception of the dry régime.

Lee declares the Salvation Army will strive to place in a position every bartender no matter how antagonistic to army principles his previous career has been. Its employment bureaus, established thirty years, will be at his service.

Rescue homes, woodways and industrial homes which the Salvation Army maintains throughout the country, will minister to his needs. The machinery is already being put into action in anticipation of the ending of liquor manufacture and sale.

SLACKERS AND THE FIGHTERS.

Secretary of War Baker has ordered the release of 113 so-called conscientious objectors from the military detention barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Perhaps he has favored many more slackers and cowards than the general public knows about. Representative Chandler of Oklahoma has submitted to Congress a statement, including extracts from the official record of army posts, showing that by Secretary Baker's order leniency was extended these imprisoned slackers in violation of the federal laws; that the laws prescribing treatment for the mulinous citizen liable to military duty were ignored. Confidential orders were given commanders of camps where slackers were held to treat the offenders with nice consideration, and with the injunction that under no circumstances should the instructions be communicated to the newspapers.

While these "conscientious objectors" have been turned back to the communities they disgraced, Secretary Baker has refused to expedite the discharge of combatant soldiers whose services are needed by their families. He has even declined to release professional baseball players.

Brigadier General Ansell, the acting judge advocate of the army, testified the other day to some other facts in the hearing before the Senate military affairs committee. He said some of the proceedings of courts-martial during the war were "shocking" and "intolerable" to any civilized sense of justice. He showed that one soldier had received the death sentence for refusing to drill because he was too sick to drill, and had been saved by executive clemency. Another had been sentenced to forty years imprisonment for refusing to give a package of cigarettes to a second lieutenant. General Ansell said the lieutenant was as much to blame as the soldier, and Senator Thomas insisted that his statement that the lieutenant was "a damn fool" go into the record. A soldier was sentenced to be executed because he absented himself without leave to go to his dying father, although he returned for duty as soon as his father was dead.

General Ansell recited numerous other atrocities of the court-martial system. He said the fundamental fault lay in the fact that the commanding officer was the final reviewing authority and could carry out any whim that might please him. He had insisted, he said, that the judge advocate general's office should have the power to review and revise proceedings of the military courts and that a statute conferring such authority had been enacted in 1862. Higher officials of the general staff disagreed with his interpretation of this law and Secretary Baker sided with the military absolutists who hold it to be the special prerogative of military officers to administer justice "on the field."

In view of these facts it is impossible to explain Mr. Baker's leniency toward slackers on the ground that he is humane and kindly. In the same camp from which the 113 conscientious objectors were released were over 2000 combatant troops who had been imprisoned for much milder offenses. Some of them have fought and sustained wounds in France. Mr. Baker's acts seem to emanate from a perverse, incompetent nature which defies explanation.

ALL THE SAME.

Rear Admiral Victor Blue has taken the "ette" out of "yeomanette". Henceforth women who enlist in the navy to do a man's work and draw a man's pay will not be embarrassed by a distinctive feminine noun. They will be able to call themselves, without any reservation or discrimination whatsoever, "gobs," just like the rest of the "flaftect."

And it is altogether probable, when the bureau of navigation of the navy finally digests the problem, that there will be no discrimination in the imposition of punishment for offenses against discipline. Yeomen who desert the service will be punished as they deserve to be in all cases.

This ruling of Rear Admiral Blue is in line with the modern tendency. Courts have decreed that in the hoary and sometimes archaic statutes and preambles to constitutions the pronoun "him" shall be construed as applying also to women. This interpretation enabled women to qualify as jurors.

It is sensible development. Male milliners, nurses and midwives are not distinguished by a masculine terminative, so why should female yeomen in the navy be favored with a feminine suffix? It is a waste of time and effort.

A "FREE ZONE" AT PANAMA.

Establishment of a customs free zone within or in the vicinity of the Panama canal zone has been discussed intermittently for several years. Mr. James E. McGrath, former shipping commissioner of the canal, points out that with the removing of the restriction on exports the eyes of commerce will be turned again upon this proposal. The question of creating near the canal a free zone for the distribution of non-perishable goods will be of particular interest to the United States.

The Isthmus of Panama has long been a distributing point for commodities to and from many parts of the world, particularly Central America and the west coast, Mr. McGrath recalls. But it has served principally as a transfer point for through billings except for such goods as were purchased by merchants of Panama and Colon for re-export. The Panama railroad, which is controlled by the United States government, and the canal administration, which controls the docks and wharves, are both unfriendly to the storage of merchandise on the piers and in the canal zone warehouses. They discourage the practice by the imposition of heavy charges.

With the inter-ocean canal in operation, the Isthmus of Panama is, by reason of its geographic location, a natural distributing point for a large portion of the world's maritime commerce. It is the converging point and the crossroads of shipping lines traversing and running between the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Indian oceans.

Often the giving of a bond to insure honesty is perfunctory, but a decision in the United States Court of Appeals may put an end to that sort of amiability. An employer represented to a bonding company that an employee was absolutely trustworthy, that a bond guaranteeing him was a mere matter of form. The company bonded the employee and he embezzled. The court held that the employer could not recover on the bond, because he had made representations that tended to deceive,

There is serious opposition in Los Angeles to the Sunday closing bill that is now before the legislature. That city seems utterly indifferent to its reputation for chemical purity. Like some persons, it appears to be willing to enjoy a reputation if it doesn't have to earn it.

One point of difficulty emphasized by Mr. McGrath is the question of control of the free zone if and when it is established. He says there is a feeling in Central and South America that the United States should not control it, on the ground that it would place undue further advantages with this country. It is difficult to observe a basis for this fear, but the commercial interests of Latin America are as jealous and suspicious as those of any other country. There is much dissatisfaction in Panama over the fact that the United States government deals in supplies consumed by the working force of the canal administration; local merchants want this business and are sure at not getting it.

But the question of control would seem to be a point of minor consideration. It is not absolutely necessary that the proposed free zone be established within the jurisdiction of the canal zone. The Panamanian government could establish it in or near either Panama or Colon. The main idea should be to attract shipping to the canal route and to make business on the isthmus. The Pacific Coast would welcome greater accommodation for commerce in Panama under any auspices.

It would seem to be time for the Latin American republics to abandon their policy of regarding everything proposed in the United States with suspicion. They should devote more of their efforts to industry. The American government seems to be in no hurry about adopting the free zone policy and in the meantime the necessary accommodation could be established on non-American territory in Panama. More work and less talk will serve nations in the same degree that it serves individuals.

KING NAMED TO MAKE RACE FOR MAYOR

These men probably will be the most prominent candidates for election as mayor of Oakland. JOSEPH H. KING (left) has been selected by opponents of MAYOR JOHN L. DAVIE (right) to make the contest.

A majority of the various elements opposed to the re-election of Mayor John L. Davie, following a number of conferences, have named Joseph H. King as their candidate. The main contest for mayor is now likely to be fought out between Davie and King. The selection was made at a meeting held yesterday afternoon attended by about sixty representative citizens. According to those in attendance, the meeting was the outgrowth of the activities of the City and County Federation, an organization devoted to effecting economies in public expenditures and particularly in the formation of a city and county government in Alameda county.

The sub-committee which canvassed the various names and finally recommended King is composed of the following:

W. E. Gibson, chairman; H. C. Capwell, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; Roscoe D. Jones, member of the Oakland Civil Service Board; Walter Cole, member of the Oakland Park Board; L. B. Magee, M. K. Miller, H. K. Jackson and E. J. Merritt.

Chairman Gibson gave out the following statement today:

At a mass meeting of Oakland citizens held yesterday Joseph H. King was declared their candidate for mayor of Oakland at the coming municipal elections.

The meeting was the outgrowth of the activities of the City and County Federation, an organization devoted to effecting economies in public expenditures and particularly to the formation of a city and county government in Alameda county.

"At a previous meeting a large business interests of the city, was formed under the name of the citizens' committee. Sub-committees from this organization canvassed the field of available men and reported their finding at today's meeting of the main body, where King was made the choice for mayor.

"King is one of the best known and most active men in Oakland. He has lived in Oakland all his life, has had extensive and varied business experience and during the war period devoted his entire energies to managing the four Liberty loan drives. As president of the Chamber of Commerce for two years he made an unparalleled record of organization effort and brought the membership of the Chamber up to 2,000, making it one of the largest commercial bodies in the United States.

"He was the originator of the permanent conference committee composed of business men and labor representatives before whom matters affecting employer and employee were brought for prompt and fair consideration.

"Of vigorous and pleasant personality, a ready and forceful speaker, with constructive ideas and ideals, King is expected to make the coming campaign a lively and interesting one."

While the close friends of Dr. L. E. Herrick, an announced candidate for mayor, attended the various conferences, the former friend and adviser of Mayor Davie declines in a statement, in which he attacks King, that his plans are not altered and that he is still in the mayoralty race. This is what Dr. Herrick has to say:

"The selection of Mr. King does not alter my plans in the least. I am still in the mayoralty race."

"As I pointed out in my statement, I should have been willing to retire in favor of any candidate whom I considered well chosen for the positionnable to defend the incumbency. I do not think such a selection has been made by the Chamber of Commerce.

"He is really an outsider, I suppose that he is the choice of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Chamber of Commerce is not supposed to be mixing in politics. It is not supposed to be a political organization.

HEAVY FALL OF SNOW BIG AID IN STATE

The storm of yesterday in moving out of the state brought joy not only to agriculturists but to the hydraulic engineers due to the heavy fall of snow in the Sierra Nevada watersheds, 12 inches being recorded at Summit as the fall for the preceding 24 hours. There is now 122 inches, or eleven feet on the ground at this point, and this condition is duplicated along practically the entire range from Summit north to the Canadian border.

The rain was general throughout California, Oregon and Washington and is over. The snow in this district is continued, though intermittent, showers may fall late this afternoon in the San Francisco bay district.

The position of this new candidate, there is not much difference, is there, between a year and a king?"

MEMBERSHIP NO ARGUMENT?

In reply to the charge that King is the candidate of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, President H. C. Capwell of that organization made the following statement:

"As the official head of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, I advise the citizens of Oakland that the organization is prevented by its organization law from any political action. It has never elected a candidate for public office nor has it ever been proposed that it should."

"Mr. King has been nominated for mayor at a mass-meeting of citizens, representative of civic and labor organizations, Improvement clubs and commercial bodies. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Herrick is also a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Membership in the Chamber of Commerce is a open angle attack on any candidate, no matter who the candidate may be."

Palmer Legal Chief Gregory's Successor

A. MITCHELL PALMER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The appointment of A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, as attorney general, to succeed Thomas Watt Gregory, was announced today. The President will send the nomination to the Senate today. It was announced at the executive offices of the White House.

The new attorney general is a native of Pennsylvania. He has been a member of three United States congresses; he is a lawyer and has had experience as a business executive.

Palmer probably will take office March 4, the date tentatively fixed by Attorney General Gregory for his retirement when he resigned several months ago to return to private practice of law.

The resignation of Palmer as attorney general has not been announced and there has been no indication as to who may succeed him in that office.

The appointment comes notwithstanding the resolution now pending before the commerce committee of the Senate for an investigation of the alien property custodian's office under Palmer.

The resolution was introduced yesterday by Senator Fred L. Higginson of New Jersey. One of the reasons given for the request was the alleged secrecy under which Palmer has conducted the office.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Norman Hapgood of New York was nominated today to be minister to Denmark, succeeding Dr. Maurice Egan, who recently resigned because of poor health.

FEW MILLION DOLLARS CHIEF CAPITOL NEED

By EDGAR T. GLEESON, Feb. 27.—

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 27.—The scenes along the quad d'Orsay are about to be re-enacted here. Already there is the clamor of many voices in the air. Inside the Capitol building the delegates from all over California have set out with the avowed purpose of getting all the money for the new capitol.

"We've got a lot of bills giving away state money to the extent of $10,000,000, more or less, but where we are we are to get all this coin of the realm," comes the cry of the distinguished solon. Echo answers:

"Where?"

JOINT HEARING HELD.

A hint of the disappointment that is beginning to pile up for those members of the session who have been distributing public moneys with a free and generous hand was supplied by last night's joint meeting of the ways and means committee of the assembly, the finance committee of the senate and the board of control. When the members had talked themselves into a state of wild frenzy, the fact still persisted that it is going to take more than the forty-third legislature to produce $10,000,000 out of the $30,000,000 available.

Not even Assemblyman T. M. Wright, chairman of the assembly committee, knows the money nor the ways by which it can be accomplished. Each year there are available through the budget $24,000,000 to operate the state. Of this $4,000,000 is included for special appropriations, state necessities, etc. The budget is made upon January 6. What's in there is there because of a necessity. If there are to be any new projects launched in the state, their cost must be defrayed from the money outside the budget. Of this there is only $28,000,000 in margin.

MORE BILLS TO COME.

Against this sum the legislators to date have drawn up bills which call for approximately $15,000,000—and they are not through yet. There is a $5,000,000 loan for delinquent women; a $250,000 loan to commemorate the great war; a sum equally as large, if not greater, is sought for a tuberculosis hospital.

What's in there is there because of a necessity. If there are to be any new projects launched in the state, their cost must be defrayed from the money outside the budget. Of this there is only $28,000,000 in margin.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Norman Hapgood of New York was nominated today to be minister to Denmark, succeeding Dr. Maurice Egan, who recently resigned because of poor health.

The nomination was made upon the recommendation of the State Department.

62 Carloads of Oakland Autos Shipped North

The largest shipment ever made of a commodity manufactured on the Pacific Coast left the Chevrolet automobile factory this afternoon when a trainload of sixty-two cars of automobiles, drawn by two engines, started for the northwest. Each car contains six automobiles, the average value of each automobile being $900. That means a trainload of autos worth $33,400.

The Oakland plant is one of the seven large plants of the company in the country. A $500,000 addition is being planned, which, when finished, will give it a capacity of 100 machines a day. Albert G. Waddell, advertising manager, said today.

The cars shipped today will be distributed from Portland and Seattle.

OAKLAND TIDE BILL IS FAVORED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 27.—Passage of Assemblyman Gray's bill to transfer from the state to the city of Oakland tide and submerged lands extending for approximately 2000 feet along the Oakland waterfront has been recommended by the Assembly commerce and navigation committee.

Several other committee meetings developed lively hearings. Assemblyman Eden, urging upon the conservation committee passage of his bill to prohibit the flooding of lands for ditches, hunting grounds, defined all allegations that the measure was offered to put gun clubs out of business in Orange county, but conceded it would probably have that effect. The committee took the matter under advisement.

Assemblyman Wickham in urging his bill to reduce the state water commission's members from three to one, said the commission was a "parasite." The committee deferred action.

Passage of Assemblyman Kasch's bill making the offense of allowing forest fires in state land indictable crime was recommended.

The Assembly corporations committee tabled Assemblyman McCollum's bill which would prevent voting of corporation stock by proxies. It approved Assemblyman Greene's bill to require corporations when their license fee is paid to file with the secretary of state the names of their directors.

JOHN WHARRY LEWIS, well-known Oakland musician, who will again direct the musical activities at the American Theatre, commencing Sunday.

The news that John Wharry Lewis, former leader of the American orchestra, will join director of the musical activities at the American, and specially prepared scores will intelligently and timely interpret every selection depicted on the screen during the two feature photoplays, "Parlors with Bert Ladd in the stellar role and 'Woman, Woman,'" starring Evelyn Nesbit, who will be shown at the American, which will open commencing with the matinee Sunday.

A routine and well demonstration is being given at the American's orchestra room, last night at the conclusion of the concert number which was specially arranged by Rosedale in appreciation of the tremendous popularity he has enjoyed at the American, and the fair crowd which turned out in the hall of the theater.

The personnel of his orchestra, including the piano, organ, violin, cello, etc.,

BONFIRE FOR GOLDEN BEAR JINX TONIGHT

BERKELEY, Feb. 28.—Tribute to the Golden Bear, the mascot of the University of California, will be paid tonight at a mammoth rally to be held around a blazing bonfire at the Greek Theater. The rally is the first event of its kind in the history of student activities and is planned as a review of the various activities following the winter term with a répétition with interesting and unique features. In place of the usual stunts greater emphasis has been placed this year on the singing of the songs of the Greek Theater. All will be decked out in blue and gold and crowned with an illuminated golden bear.

President Wheeler will be the principal speaker. Mr. Hersey, student body head, Acting Comptroller Robert Sprout and Coach Holland will talk on student activities. Jazz music will be furnished by several university bands and songs will be sung by college singers.

Tickets will be required by the general public to participate.

WOMAN CAUSE OF CHINESE MURDER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Gee Gung was killed by a Marquis Chinese, Jew Sung, yesterday at 10 a.m. Grant arrived this morning following the unexpected return of Jew Sung to find Gong with Shoo Shee a Chinese woman whom Jew Sung had been keeping company.

The woman was taken into custody and taken to several places in China town where she said Jew Sung might be found, but thus far he has not been located. A $1,000 reward is being held on bonds of $1,000 on a charge that pending the investigation in Detective Tom Bailey and Leo Bunner.

The woman said she had opened the door and lighted the oven over the bed and that as Gee Gung started up Sung drew a revolver and fired five shots at him. The flashes from the revolver caused the bed cloth to catch fire and the bed was burned before the arrival of the police who subdued the flames and throwing the blankets at Gee Gung.

It was also believed to be a re-enactment of the trouble between Hien Sen and Chen Seng Yens which has already caused the death of six Chinese and the wounding of a number of others. This story was disputed by the statement of Shoo Shee after a cross examination.

Harry L. Wagenet to Wed Florence Woods

The engagement of Miss Florence Woods, private secretary to W. E. Gibson, president of the Foothill College of Engineering, and Harry L. Wagenet, instructor in the mechanical engineering department of the college was announced yesterday by cards received by friends in the couple.

The ceremony, which has been in both hearts for several months came as a surprise to the students and faculty members of the college. No intimation had been made that the friendship between Miss Woods and her fiance had grown into love. The wedding date will be late in June. Miss Woods' godmother is the mother of Miss S. L. Woods, 600 Boulevard way.

$100,000,000 Mission Fund Is Discussed

SPokane, Wash., Feb. 27.—Planners for the recovery of Governor Ernest Lister of Washington who is a patient in a sanitarium at St. Elizabeth's opened the first session of the world conference of the 100th anniversary of the First International Conference of the Red Cross here. More than 800 men, women and children from all sections of the island empire participated in the first session.

Funds for raising the $100,000,000 fund for missionary and educational work were outlined by the speakers.

Gardener Is Killed by Fall From Tree

O. Williams, a gardener, living at 1619 West street, was instantly killed this morning by falling from a tree. Williams was trimming trees on Castro street between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets when he lost his balance and fell striking his head on the sidewalk, and fracturing his skull. He was dead when picked up by the police. He was 45 years old and left a sister, who lived at his home.

Butchers to Hold Fiesta on March 9

Tourneymen butchers in all the cities of the bay counties are making preparations for the annual spring fiesta and outing of the Tourneymen Butchers Protective and Benevolent Association, which will be held in Sutliff Park on Sunday, March 9. The fiesta will be for the benefit of the sick and death funds of the association, a fund of $10,000 of the influenza epidemic.

The committee in charge includes John Pachter, Ben Oswald, M. R. Jager, J. Keeney, C. Weisheimer, Abe McCreadie, A. Mills, A. D. Pratt, T. G. Scatford, W. Murray, D. J. Murray, L. Hagen and B. Hagen.

Jack Goodwin Talks on Vice Situation

Jack Goodwin, "Three Fingered Jack," will speak tonight at the First Christian Church, Grand Avenue and Webster street on "Best Methods of Handling the Vice Situation of Oakland."

The address will give the viewpoints of one who spent 21 years among the classes of people that are furnishing Oak-land officials a perplexing problem.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Rollins, 'Scientific' Robber, Slain in His First 'Indetectable' Crime, Practiced With Petty Thefts

PSYCHOLOGIST THIEF TRACED BY HIS LOOT

'Easy Money' Lure Attributed Cause
Rollin' Crime Puzzles U.C. Professors
'War Neurosis,' Says Chief Vollmer

Tribune Bureau
2011 Shattuck Ave.
BERKELEY, Feb. 27.—The lure of "easy money," coupled with a desire to lead a life of leisure, is believed to have led to the downfall and death of Thornton Ulrich Rollins, 27 years old, former instructor in psychology at the University of California, who was shot to death on Tuesday night while trying to rob the safe of the Western Motor Company.

Psychologists at the University of California, who when Rollins was released before entering the medical corps of the United States army last year, are at a loss to explain the actions of the young man. They view the idea that hunger and financial embarrassment drove him to a life of crime.

Both Professor G. M. Stratton, head of the department of psychology at the university, who recently returned from army service, and Warner Brown, assistant professor in the same department, have worked for six months on the staff of the university. Both are expert stenographers and office assistants and could have found employment at one of many tasks if he had so desired.

SCOTT "REACTION" THEORY.
Both of the well-known psychologists in the dead man's room in the Hotel Crail, Berkeley, have been identified as the property of a score of others, and the confession in the city prison of Waestell C. Dog, his roommate and alleged partner in psychological crime, has indicated a number of these smaller thefts.

PRACTICED FOR CRIME.
Rollins, who planned a "scientifically indetectable" robbery of the Western Motors Company agency at Twenty-fourth street and Broadway, was shot by Special Policeman C. C. Peters after locking two office doors in the rear and springing to beat the strong box. In his careful calculation of the method of the crime, including several changes of disguise, he overlooked the one point that ruined his plans; he did not know that a score of policeman watched the place and counted only on the regular policeman on the beat, who passed once an hour.

DOES NOT KNOW.

CONFession CLEARS ALEX.
Among the property found in the dead man's room is a book on the property of F. A. McAllister, student from the University of California, February 1. The police found a number of blank army discharge papers and believe that the two men may have been selling them.

WASHINGTON AND 13TH

OPIUM TRAIL TRACED FROM SOUTH BORDER

Idiots scout a theory that "reaction" from the rigors of drilling and strict regulations of army life may have temporarily "unbalanced" Rollins and sent him to an untimely death. Through what is believed to be his first real act in a self-chosen life of crime.

"Rollins did no more in the army than he did in civilian life while at the university," Professor Stratton said today. "His labors at Camp Kearny were strictly of a clerical nature, with some psychological work also mixed out to him by reason of his knowledge of the subject. He was a man of excellent character from all appearances and the last person on earth one would have expected to be the act which caused his death. He had many friends at the university and I am sure but intimated that I needed help there would have been ready response."

From Professor Brown comes the information that Rollins had expressed a desire to try "something different" from his old line of psychological endeavor. He reiterates Professor Stratton's statement that the slain psychologist could have had his old place or another position in the university.

"Rollins intimated to me that he desired to do something which would bring him more money in the future," Brown says. "However, I had not seen him since his discharge from the army and did not know what he was doing until I learned that he had been injured and I went to his bedside at the Oakland Recovery hospital on Tuesday night. What I learned when I reached the hospital came as the greatest shock to me. I can hardly comprehend it yet."

MAY HAVE HAD SHOCK.
That Rollins may have had a shock of some kind which temporarily unbalanced him and sent him unfortunately to an act which caused his death is the belief of both Professor Stratton and Professor Brown. Further than that is in explaining a theory for the sudden transformation of a well-balanced, model, universally liked young man into a bold desperado ready planning the looting of a downtown business house the two psychologists are stumped. They frankly admit that all their pet theories of psychology avail them nothing.

From Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley, known throughout the country as a criminologist and psychologist, comes a theory which is substantiated by well-known medical experts at the moment which may account for Rollins' actions.

Chief Vollmer says that it is more than likely that Rollins may have been suffering from a form of "war neurosis," a temporary malady similar in form to "shell shock" and other aggravations of wartime disease which may have affected mental faculties for a time and turned his thoughts into abnormal chancery.

"Between the time a man joins the army and the time which he breaks down, he passes through a special experience very different from that of any form of civil life," Chief Vollmer says in quoting from well-known authorities on the subject of "war neurosis" to show cases of where men in supposedly perfectly normal state of mind have broken down completely under military training. Along the same line of reasoning Chief Vollmer deems a man may suffer "shell shock" who had never been near the trenches.

DIFFERS FROM CHIEF.

Professor Stratton, who held the post of psychologist in the United States army and examined hundreds of men for future service, differs from the Berkeley police chief in this particular case.

Chief Rollins' work been exhausting or requiring unusual mental or physical strain, he says that such a state may have come to pass. His only solution of the puzzling psychological problem, he declares, lies in the theory that his mind may have become temporarily unbalanced following a shock of some kind.

In Rollins' room at the Hotel Crail, Shattuck avenue and Addison street, Berkeley, detectives found a large assortment of books, many of them dealing with psychological subjects and deeper forms of reading. A few light works of fiction, including several of Mark Twain's stories, were also among the number.

University of California records show Rollins to have filled the role of assistant in the department of psychology for the first half of the term of 1918-19, at the same time pursuing studies as a junior in the college of letters and science. He registered in Berkeley from the University of Chicago and was working toward his bachelor's degree when war was declared by the United States and he left to enter the service as a sergeant in the medical corps.

Chief Rollins was leading a veritable Jekyll and Hyde existence while engaged in duties in the department

DIRECTOR OF SHIPYARDS IS OPTIMISTIC

Across the Lower California border, despite custom patrols, thence to Los Angeles and from the southern city to Oakl and San Francisco is the route which the opium supply, mysteriously reaching the bay district, is believed to follow, little by little, through an investigation being conducted in Los Angeles and by Dr. H. B. Meader of the state service in this city, details of the opium traffic are being brought to light.

The investigation started in Los Angeles, where Policemen Howard J. Proffitt and William F. Hill and Detective Frank Edmundson are on duty. The grand jury is now investigating charges that the two former were involved in the robbery of the establishment of Hon. Hing, Chinese alleged opium dealer, of Shattuck and 17th street, since missing.

With $145,000,000 worth of government shipbuilding contracts held by our plants in the East Bay and San Francisco districts, our firm views the shipbuilding situation on this coast with optimism," he said in commenting upon Pacific coast shipbuilding conditions in general.

EXPECT NAVAL WORK.

"In addition," he continued, "we expect that a share of the new naval work recently ordered by Congress will be awarded our plants in Alameda and San Francisco."

"After Mr. Tyman and I have conducted our investigation here in affecting shipbuilding and its employees, we will probably have something to say concerning the future of our San Francisco bay plants. Until then, however, I prefer to discuss their prospects and shipbuilding in general in a casual way only."

WANT TO LEARN NEEDS.

"Just now the shipbuilding world is marking time while the smoke of battle fits and permits a clear vision as to whether there is a big deficit in the deadweight tonnage of shipping, or one of less formidable proportions. No one can predict the future shipping will until the future is rapidly discernable and the world's commerce is established along approximately permanent lines. Until that time it will not be known what will be required what kind of ships will be needed."

"This is the twilight period and the shipbuilders are playing a waiting game until such time as the future can be visioned. In the meanwhile they are getting things in readiness for the increased prosperity tomorrow will undoubtedly bring."

Referring to labor conditions here and elsewhere, Powell said:

NO TROUBLE EXPECTED.

"The Maryland passes out of existence March 31. Thereafter the adjustment of wages and working conditions will be placed squarely before the shipyard owners and their employees. It will then be a matter of collective bargaining between the two. This is one of the reasons for my visit, and it is one of the subjects I shall discuss extensively with Mr. Tyman."

"We do not look for any trouble in continuing our working agreements, and we hope to establish the same satisfactory relations with our

MRS. ANNETTE ABBOTT
ADAMS, who has been appointed
United States district attorney.

MRS. ADAMS NOMINATED TO ATTORNEYSHIP

The nomination of Mrs. Annette Abbott Adams to be United States attorney for the northern district of California was sent to the Senate by President Wilson. Its confirmation by the Senate, expected immediately to follow, will make Mrs. Adams the first woman ever regularly ordained to a United States attorneyship. She holds the office now, but only by virtue of a recess appointment by Attorney General Thomas W. Gregory.

In October, 1914, Mrs. Adams entered the United States attorney's office as an assistant. In July, 1918, on the attorney general's order, she was sworn in as chief of the office, succeeding John W. Preston, who became assistant to the United States attorney general. Her regular appointment by the Senate is now due.

A graduate of the University of California as a bachelor of letters in 1904, Mrs. Adams received her doctor of jurisprudence degree in 1912 and practiced law in Fresno, County, before coming to Oakland. Here she was associated with the late Mrs. Margaret Ordine Steele in a local law practice until her appointment as Preston's assistant.

Mrs. Adams is the daughter of H. D. Abbott, a Redding merchant. Her appointment by Attorney General Gregory was upon recommendation of Preston, United States Senator James D. Phelan and Congressman Baker. The two latter recommended the President's nomination of today. The office carries a salary of $15,500.
